April Bushnell Hart, of the De-eat of American History at Harvard, as been lecturing at the University State during the last week, has re-to has work at Cambridge. Pro-Hart and Dr. E. Alexander, of the which point Professor Hart will take train for the North. Before leaving he present away almost with his hospitation and entertainment here, and was carried away almost with his hospitative of the North. Before leaving he present himself as well pleased with the crit done at the university here, and was carried away almost with his hospitative of the professors and students vied with the other in showing him kindness. He are received as an honorary member of the alectic Society last night, and test the meeting of the society lourned an informal reception as held and Professor Hart spent some in the hall looking at the handsomely amed portraits of the eminent active embers of the society, whodebated in its lif when they attended the university, nong these, were portraits of Senator and General Clingman, and of other ys Judge Ruffin, Senator Willie P. Manim, Secretaries of the Navy George E. deger and William A. Graham, and Presint of the United States James K. Polk.

Professor Hart's last lecture was on Methods of Historical Study." After giving various definitions of history—smong others, "History is past politics, and politics is present history" (a Johns Hopkins definition); "History is a record of what people before us have thought," &c.—he proceeded, with the use of maps and diagrams, to give some methods of pursuing this study. "In making research use biographies, official letters, and the records of the legi-latures," Here Professor Hart remarked parenthetically that there was not in existence a complete set of North Carolina colonial laws.

"Taking a subject, write a monograph upon it and say the last word on that subject. Tertiary or third-hand works are material collected from second-hand authority. Never believe that all the history about any one subject has been written."

"In taking notes, instead of using note-books use blank sheets of paper not too large to be cumbersome, and afterwards make a little book of as many of these sheets as relate to one particular subject. This saves the trouble of having to keep a ponderous index to the ordinarily-used, numerous note-books. One historian," said the lecturer, "has 800 note-books, and when he wants to refer to a particular note he has to consult his voluminous index. These loose-sheet notes bound togother in a little book with the particular phase of history their contents deal with noted on the outside cover would save much trouble."

Protessor Hart recommended the study of the following subjects of our State history in monographic form: The history of North Carolina boundars, lines; immigration into North Carolina, giving a history of the Scotch Highlanders, the Scotch-Irish, and the New England Puritans, who made settlements in this State; the strif against the Proprietors, dwelling especially upon the fearlessness with which our colonists swept away bad laws manufactured in England and bad Governors sent over from England; slavery in the colony and State of North Carolina; public lands and land ititles, with the history of the state of Franklin; the influence of North Carolina upon other States (North Carolina settlers emigrated not only west to Tennesses, but many deviated to south of west, and others to north of west, going to Ohio and Indiana); North Carolina during the Civil War; reconstruction in North Carolina; the judiciary in North Carolina; popular tumuits in North Carolina.

Finally Professor Hart said he himself thought he would write a monograph on "Hospitality in the Old North State," whereupon he was greatly applicated.

BRIEF INTERRUPTION. The lecture was interrupted by a cry of fire, and the student body promptly vacated to the scene where the conflagration was supposed to be. A defective flue in Professor Williams's house seemed to be about to set the house on fire, but desisted in the arrival of so formidable a body of this city. on the arrival of so formidable a body of students. The boys soon returned and heard the remainder of the lecture.

THE ALLEGED EMBEZZLER SKIPS. Tracked by Detectives and Evades Them. Editor caldwell's Reception.

(Special telegram to the Dispatch.)
CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 16.—Parties from Rutherfordton yesterday reported an affair which is creating quite a sensation in the Mountain city. Some months ago one J. H. Myers (so he called himself) and family came to Rutherfordton and located. They were apparently nice, clever people and were well received. He bought the livery business of Mr. R. B. Clark, and was succeeding well. No one suspected that there was the least thing wrong, when the town was startled by the fact Saturday morning that on the night before Mr. Myers had disappeared, he, it is stated, having been frightened away by detectives who were on his track, charging him with having embezzled $30,000 in Missouri. CORRECT LIKENESSES.

Connect Likeresses.

The detectives tracked him to North Carolina and finally to Rutherfordton. To be sure of their man they sent for photographs of Myers, his wife, and child, which were procured in Missouri, and the pictures were correct likenesses of each of them. Myers in some way learned of the detectives' presence in Rutherfordton and Friday night suddenly disappeared. The people of the place are very much stirred up over the matter, as he and his family were generally liked. Before leaving he transferred all his property to his wife and a number of creditors are in the lurch.

Last night while at the skating-rink watching the skaters Mrs. I. H. McGinn had a stroke of paralysis. She fell to the floor and had to be carried home. The stroke extended only over her left side. She is still conscious and it is thought she will recover.

The reception given by the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce to Mr. J. P. Caidwell, the new editor of the Chronicle, at their rooms to-night was a decidedly successful and pleasant affair. It was largely attended and an elegant lanch was served.

In the Criminal Court to-day C. Valer & Co. were arraigned charged with selling beer without license. Much interest was falt in the case, as Charlotte is now a dry town by the vote of the County Commissioners. The indictment was for retailing beer in quantities of less than one gallon. Valer & Co.'s lawyers made the point that defendant could not be convicted, as the offence was within the exclusive jurisdiction of a justice of the peace. The Court sustained this position and the case was dismissed. Further action in the case is awaited with interest.

Miss Lou Dewees, a young woman of Ca-serrus county, was found dead in bed at a suse on Dr. W. W. Orr's place, a few niles from the city, this morning. An ex-mination showed that she died from natu-al causas.

THE MERCHANTS' TAX.

The Supreme Court to day filed opinions in the three cases involving the State's right to impose a tax upon purchases made by merchants. The court declares that the tax is not on interstate but on the occupation of carrying on business in this State, and graduates the tax on the amount of purchase whether made within or without the State. It does not discriminate agains the products of other States. It is a privilege tax on an occupation.

A DESPERATE PRISONER KILLED. Shoots Him in Self-Defence.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]
Windson, N. C., February 14.—This morning when James Windorn, the jailer, went in one of the cells of the jail in which six negro prisoners were confined to carry them water he was assaulted by John Morris, who slammed him up against the wall, caught him by the throat and was choking him. The jailer succeeded in getting his pistol out of his pocket and shot Morris through the heart, killing him instantly. The prisoner who was killed was a young and powerful man and a desperate character and would have killed the jailer in a very short time if he had not been shot.

The other prisoners made no attempt to help Morris or to escape. The fire from the pistol burned the dead negro's ciothes very badly, and there was no blood on his person. The pistol that the jailer used was one of the cheap, common kind that can be bought in almost any store for less than $2, and carried a 22-calibre ball.

A Fatal Negre Stabblog Affray.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

DURHAM, N. C., February 16.—An affray occurred at a negro dance in the northern part of the city last night. Bryam Jones, negro drayman, 26 years old, went to the house where his wife was dancing and tried to take her home. She refused to leave and this brought on an altercation between her husband and some other man, during which Case Stevens stabbed Jones while he was held by Lee Neal. Jones died in an hour. Stevens made his escape, but Neal was captured this morning and is in Jail.

Death of a Popular Young Man. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]
ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., February 14.—A gloom was cast over this entire town by the death on yesterday at 4 P. M. of John W.
Johnston, a prominent leaf-tobacco dealer of this market. He died after a short libese of meningitis, brought on by excessive smoking.
Mr. Johnston was married only two months ago to Miss Gadstone, of Reidaville, N. C., his former home. He had won a bost of friends here by his gentlemanly manners and good business qualifications. His brother and sister arrived after his death. There was a called meeting of the Tobacco Association this morning, sales were suspended to-day, and resolutions expressive of sorrow and sympathy with his family were adopted. A committee of four were appointed to accompany his remains to Reidsville for burial.

AN ELECTION CASE.

Supervisors.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

BALTIMOBE, February 16.—Judge Morris, of the United States District Court, filed a decision to-day in the case of the United States against Henry E. Buckey, a judge of election at an election in this city for a representative in Congress. He is charged, under section 3522 of the United States Revised Statutes, with having obstructed and prevented a Federal supervisor of election in the performance of his duty, of personally scrutinizing and inspecting the ballots of illiterate persons who required to be assisted in marking their ballots. Judge Morris holds that it is the evident intention of the Federal law that every duty to be performed by every officer of elections in conducting the voting shall be scrutinized by the Federal supervisor. The result of his construction of the law Judge Morris thus sums up: "Notwithstanding the prohibition of the State law, the Federal supervisors may, in the performance of their duty to personally inspect and scrutinize the manner of voting, if required of an illiterate person, accompany the ballot as to the candidates for representative in Congress, to ascertain if it is properly marked as the voter has deared. The supervisors may explain to the illiterate voter that it is his privilege to have their scrutiny or not as he chooges, and if the voter is content with the ballot-clerks, and does not request the presence of the supervisors, then they shall not interfere and shall not go to the booth. If the special plea in this case is amended to allege that the illiterate voter did not request the scrutiny or inspection of the Federal supervisor, I will overrule the demurrer and hold the plea good."

HIS CAREER WAS GLITTERING.

Flight—His Creditors.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

St. Louis, February 16.—A special from Dallas, Texas, says: Colonel J. E. Simpson, well known throughout the South, and Texas especially, having been at the head of a dozen business firms in Dallas, is absent, and numbers of creditors and people who have been duped are looking for him. The grand jury, it is reported, have found several indictments against him, and the air is filled with rumors of crooked transactions. A rumor was circulated yesterday that he had committed suicide at Hot Springs, Ark., where he had gone for his health, but it was learned from one of the largest creditors that Simpson was on the ocean em routs either to Europe or to South America. A year ago prudent businessmen predicted that Simpson was going too fast and would come to an abrupt end. His career has been so glittering and his creat so sudden and so complete that his flight is regarded as a mystery, the solution of which is bound to implicate him to such an extent as to exile him from this country. It is estimated that he got away with at least $300,000 in cool cash. Flight-His Creditors.
